Terms and Conditions

- By submitting your artwork, you are giving your consent for Codpiece and Freshblood to use the submitted piece in Pictures of John Gray and in publicity material for the show. Whenever used, the you will be credited as the artists.
- If your submission is successful, we will contact you to let you know. We reserve the right not to use submitted works which do not meet to requirements stated on our website or which are deemed unsuitable for the production. The winning entry will be chosen by JAM Bar & Brasserie before the production takes place.
- We apologise but we cannot contact all unsuccessful entrants and we are not able to enter into a dialogue concerning why submissions have not been successful.
- Unfortunately, we lack the resources to return submissions. We will, however, be offering an opportunity for entrants to collect their submissions on Sunday 29 November 2009. If you would like your artwork to be available for collection on this day, and would like us to email you with details about how and when you can do this, please tick this box:
- The Mead Gallery cannot accept any responsibility for the works. They will be stored while awaiting collection by the representative for Pictures of John Gray, in both the Mead Gallery shop area and office. Lenders should be aware that these areas are not secured and there is a risk of theft or damage. While Gallery staff will do all they can to protect the works, their safety cannot be guaranteed.
- We are unable to accept works of art which might present a risk, e.g. unprotected glass edges, protruding nails, etc.
- Your personal information will be retained for administrative reasons until 29/09/09 and will not be passed on to a third party or used for marketing purposes. If you would like to be sent updates about future Codpiece and Freshblood productions, please tick your chosen method of communication below.
